

Examples of Blurbs

A blurb is the text on back cover of a book. It is a summary of the story. It aims to get the reader interested in buying or reading the book.

What Makes a Good Blurb?

- They are short in length;
- They use attention-grabbing words and phrases;
- They often use question and exclamation marks;
- They often use three full stops at their ends (an ellipsis) to leave the reader asking questions...

Examples of Blurbs

Click on each book cover to read the blurb.

Sigurd the Viking is back, and causing chaos wherever he goes. Even his new wife, Mrs. Tibblethwaite, can't keep him out of trouble. But then, how would you react if you were a tenth century Viking stuck in the twenty first century?

Ruby and Garnet are ten-year-old twins. Identical. They do everything together, especially since their mother died three years earlier. But can being a double act work forever? When so much around them is changing...

Charlie Bucket loves chocolate. And Mr. Willy Wonka, the most wondrous inventor in the world, is opening the gates of his amazing chocolate factory to five lucky children. It's the prize of a lifetime!

Gobstoppers, wriggle sweets and a river of melted chocolate delight await - Charlie needs just one Golden Ticket and all these treats could all be his.

"There's a new master criminal on the scene, 12-year-old Artemis Fowl. Kidnapping a fairy starts out easy for Artemis, but he soon discovers he's taken captive Captain Holly Short. She's part of an armed and extremely dangerous LEPrecon Unit. Artemis should be able to handle things as long as they play by the rules..."

The hedgehog family of number 5A are a happy bunch but they dream of reaching the Park. Unfortunately, a very busy road lies between them and their goal and no-one has found a way to cross it safely. No-one, that is, until the determined young Max decides to solve the problem once and for all...

A brain-tickingly brilliant seriously story.

Hamstring Town is a fun
free zone - there are no sweets, no treats and fried food is banned.
Until the Fried Piper
comes along.

