

Silent Letters Revision

This week, we are looking at words that all contain a sound that is made with two letters but only one is actually spoken. They all have a silent letter.

The name for two letters that make one sound is a digraph. Can you spot the digraph in each of these words? Write them down and draw a circle around the digraph and a line under the silent letter.

Read the sentences and choose the best spelling word to complete each one. If you choose correctly, a piece of picture clue will appear for another of your silent letter spellings.

Each page will have a 30 second timer.

You have 3 minutes in total to solve the picture puzzle.

“Please use your _____ and fork,” the lunchtime supervisor reminded the children.
