

Change the Sentence Types

Rearrange the words in the questions below to make commands.
You may not need to use all of the words but do not use additional words.
Remember to punctuate your sentences correctly.

Can you clear everything from the table now?

Please will you start your work on a new page please?

Could you stop shouting out?

Can you bring your homework in?

Could you tidy your room at the weekend?

Can you finish your homework before you watch TV?

Change the Sentence Types

Rearrange the words in the statements below to make questions.

Do not use additional words.

Remember to punctuate your sentences correctly.

You are going to the football match.

They have accepted the invitation.

The little girl is playing with her doll.

He will be late for swimming practice.

We are having fish and chips for dinner.

Charles Dickens is your favourite author.