I Can Explore How the Incas Built Machu Picchu

To continue our topic on South America, this week we are looking at how the Incas built Machu Picchu.

Look at the picture below of Machu Picchu.

What type of stone is used?

How do you think the Incas managed to move the stones into position?

How did they manage to build the walls without them collapsing?

Why did they build the village?

These are just a few questions that need researching, but there are plenty of other interesting facts on how the Incas built Machu Picchu. So turn detective and start investigating!
