

Symmetry - Reflection

To the left is a section of a wallpaper design by William Morris, called 'Persian Wallpaper'. Below you can see how this section is repeated, by reflection. This is called: reflective symmetry.

TASK: copy the reflection of the design to the left in the space provided. A section has been put in for you to help you begin. Use a pencil first. Then colour the design in.

TIP - use something straight like a ruler to help guide you to where the flowers and leaves go.
