

North Beckton News

Dear Parents/Carers,

Welcome back to the new school year and I hope you've all had a lovely break. It has been great to see all the children back in school and looking very smart in their uniforms. We have got our Welcome Assemblies coming up it would be great if you could come along to one of these to find out more about what your child will be learning this year. It is also an opportunity to find out about things like homework and PE days as well as meet all the staff working in their year group; there will also be opportunities to ask any questions you might have about the year ahead.

As a staff team, we have spent Monday and Tuesday this week, planning ahead for the upcoming year and we are very excited about the various things that will be happening to support your children with their learning.

Please continue to chat with your class teachers and SLT in the playground each morning and share any concerns and positive things so that we can continue to work together successfully throughout the year.

Regards, Alison Helm: Head Teacher

Thank you for your email of 25 July, about North Beckton Primary School's success in the first ever Royal Academy Young Artists Summer Show.

I was very impressed to learn of your pupils' collective success in entering the show. It is a real achievement and something the whole school can be proud of. I am sure the young artists whose work has been exhibited will take valuable learning from this as they go through education and into adulthood, and I have no doubt this will set a positive example for all the children at your school.

I would like to take this opportunity to congratulate you, your staff and your pupils and to wish you all the very best in your future endeavours.

I am delighted to share a letter from the Minister for Education about our recent Art success at the Royal Academy of Arts. Well done to all the children involved.
