

Dear Parents/Carers,

What a beautiful week; summer is very clearly now here! As the weather is getting much warmer, please can I encourage you to remind your children to bring their water bottles so that they can stay hydrated throughout the day. On sunny days, they are obviously also welcome to bring sun hats and put sunscreen on before they come to school as we will be having all our playtimes and lunchtimes outside, as normal.

Across the school the children have been working on various tests and assessments this week so that the class teachers can write accurate end-of-year reports for you. This will also ensure we have the correct information to pass on to the new class teachers in September. They have all been working incredibly hard and you should be very proud of their efforts this week.

Regards, Ms Helm: Head Teacher

Some children from across the school have been selected to undertake a special art project with Mr Rowell, our Art Lead. They have been doing drawing, sketching and painting of different landscapes within our local community.

Our 'Thought for Next Week'

Next week, in our assemblies, we will be thinking about:

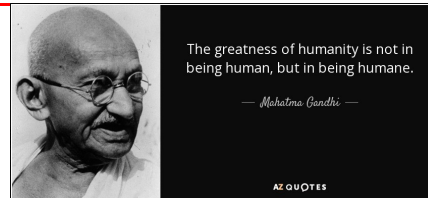

"BEING HUMAN; What does it mean to be human?"

How can we be more human to each other?

How is Humanism different from faith based religions?

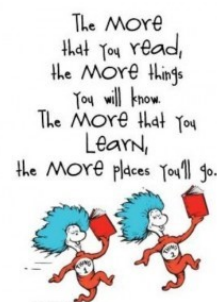

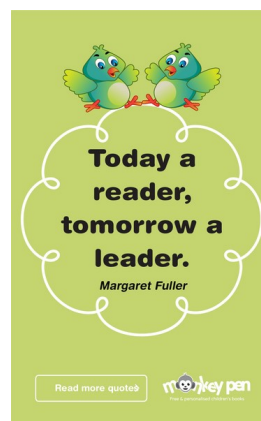

How does the Humanists approach compare to your faith or no faith?

Summer Reading Challenge 2022

Presented by The Reading Agency.
Delivered in partnership with libraries.

We are delighted once again this year to be joining Newham Libraries for the Summer Reading Challenge 2022. The Challenge is a great way to motivate children and help them to discover an interest in reading.

Your child will collect prizes and stickers for books they read, which they can borrow from the library. Over this half term, your child will be visiting our local library, Beckton Globe, to find out more about the challenge and ensure their library card is up to date.

If your child completes the Challenge, by reading six books or more over the summer, they will receive a special certificate in a school assembly in the autumn term.

We appreciate your support in helping your child to discover the books they will love to read this summer.
