

Dear Parents/Carers,

We have had a great couple of weeks at North Beckton with lots of 'love of reading' activities for World Book Day, including a parent phonics workshop. There are some photos on this newsletter but many more on the gallery section of the school website. Please be aware, after today's issue, the newsletter will be published on a fortnightly basis. Therefore, the next newsletters this term will be sent out via study-bugs and be available on the school website on 17th March and then 31st March.

Thank you for your on-going support.
